now and then lynching, interpolated unce the war, kept alive public interest in such affairs. The lynching of four of the kene gang shortly after the war marks a period in the criminal history of that couniry. There were features about this affair that resemble features of the lynching on early Monday morning at Bedford.

The Renes operated near Seymour, and, beginning their career with petty pilfering, they eventually became very bold and daring. Farm houses were robbed without respect to their compants and burgiaries were committed in great number at Seymour. The people seemed to know that the Reno gang was responsible for the depreda-lions, but as the family was considered a very dangerous one when its enmity was troused, no one was willing to take the initiative in bringing the members of it to book. The Renosdid not hesitate to shoot on the least provocation. Their success on the Ohio & Mississippi road, as it is stated, and a general looting followed. Individually, several members of the gang had been accused of murder. The train robbery brought down the wrath of a corporation, and four of the gang were arrested and taken to New Albany, where they were lodged in jail.

As a soon as they were imprisoned people dared to ope mouths, and the enormity of the Renos offences became apparent. One night a crowd of railroad men and citizens chartered a special train at Seymour and went down over the old "Jeff" road to New Albany. The mob went up to the jail and demanded possession of the Renos. The doughty sheriff refused to give them up, and in the melee which ensaed the officer was shot in the arm. The outlaws were taken from their cells, and in a very short time were dangling atropes ends over the bannisters of the second-floor jail corridor. The mob returned to its special train, and its members ate breakfast had the effect of breaking up outlawry in that section for a while.

Another famous lynching bee was held at Bloomington in 1876. Attorney W. L. Taylor, of this city, was in school at Bloomington at the time. He remembers the career of "Crook" Mershone, who, with one or more accomplices, committed one of track.

A mob battered down the jail doors, after Mershone was arrested, and made to biscell. The murderer attempted to shield himself with a cot, but a volley was fired at him, and he died almost instantly. The mob was organized in Salt Creek township, Monroe county, and effected its mission in

A few years ago Jim Devin and a weakminded fellow were strung up on the bridge over Big Indian creek, near Corydon. Davin persuaded his companion to go with him from Leavenworth to Nevin, a small station near Corydon. There they attacked and injured the family of an old man named Le Mays, afterward robbing the house. The mob readily disposed of the two criminals after their arrest. White-capping had its origin pear Corydon and rapidly spread to other sonuties. Barn-burning and petty stealing had become so common that the people were in great fear and terror. The White Caps retrained from lynching, but they resorted to punishment that in several cases resulted in death to the victims. The dispovery of a cave in Harrison county filled with stolen goods and the impossibility of convicting the thieves gave a great impetus to the movements. One man who was attacked by White Caps near Pilot Knob, in Crawford county, shot and killed one of his assailants.

Natatog Farms.

Northwestern Agriculturist. There is a good deal of business sense and common sense in giving each farm a distinctive name. Nearly all breeders of fine stock name their farms, and the stock sold carries with it the name, and this plan might well be extended to all farms that have anything to sell to which his name or the name of a reputable farm will add value. The soap grease butter and stale eggs and barrels with big apples and potatoes on top and small ones at the bottom, come from farms whose owners would be ashamed to have their goods and name go together.

AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT

The Hat-Trimmings Case, Involving Millions, Won by the Importers.

Decision by the Supreme Court Affirming Previous Rulings-An Old Employe Dismissed Despite Carl Schurz's Protest.

IN FAVOR OF IMPORTERS. The Hat-Trimmings Case Decided by the United States Supreme Court. WASHINGTON, May 15 .- The Supreme Court of the United States to-day affirmed its previous ruling, as laid down in the Langfeld case, in what is popularly known the "hat-trimmings case." The case came on appeal from the judgments of the Cirouit Courts of the United States-two from the Eastern district of Pennsylvania, and one from the Northern district of Illinois-the controversy in each case being between the collector of the port and the importers as to the rating to be made upon material used for hat trimmings. Justice Shiras announced the opinion and judgment of the court, in which he stated that in the Pennsylvania cases, where the judg-ment of the Circuit Court was in favor of the contention of the importers, that the goods in question were liable to duty as hat trimmings, and not as silk or manu-factured silk, the ruling was in accordance with the judgment of the Supreme Court in the former cases adjudicated. In this case, said Justice Shiras, we find that there was no error, and, therefore, the judgment of the Circuit Court in these two cases will stand affirmed. It follows from this, he said, that in the case appealed from the Northern district of Illinois, wherein the judgment of the court was in favor of the contention of the collector, and the goods were declared to be dutiable as silk or manufactures of silk, that judgment must be reversed, and it is so ordered.

It is estimated at the Treasury Department that by the loss of the hat trimmings case the United States will be called upon to refund from eight to ten millions of dollars. Some estimates place it as high as $30,-000,000. Secretary Foster's estimate was $25,000,000. He offered to compromise the case for $3,000,000, but the compromise was not effected. During the past three years $2,000 of duties in these cases have been re-

BOSS MUGWUMP SLAPPED.

Old Employe Dismissed by Carlisle Against the Protest of Carl Schurz. WASHINGTON, May 15-The Washington Post ascribes the following language to Secretary Crrlisle in an interview as to the removal of Mr. Sturtevant, head of the treasury stationery division, who had been in the department thirty-two years, and whose retention was understood to have been requested by Hon. Carl Schurz and other civil-service reformers:

I made this change after mature deliberation and upon complaints from responsible sources. I will not call them charges, but they were sufficient to warrant a new appointment. The statement that my son Locan her snything to to do with the matter is baseless, as he advised against any change at present. The idea that any officer under this government is essential to its efficient administration is absurd. I pro pose to put in his place an able and broad-gauge man who will manage the purchases of stationery just as well as the deposed officer. The criticism indulged in comes wholly from mugwump papers, which know nothing about the details which brought about the change. The resignation of Mr. Sturtevant was held up for a few days, but on Saturday I determined to accept it, and sent him a letter accordingly, as a result of these attacks.

Secretary Carlisle being questioned as to the accuracy of this interview this morning said it was fairly correct, with the exception of the term "mngwump" newspapers, which he did not use.

Protests Against the Russian Treaty. WASHINGTON, May 15 .- Mr. George Kennan, the well-known writer on Russia, left the city last night for New York, whence he sails Wednesday for Europe. He will be absent six weeks or two months. Before leaving, Mr. Kennan sent the following letter to President Cleveland relating to the Russian extradition treaty:

Mr. President-I have the honor to transmit to you herewith translated copies of four protests against the recently ratified Russian extradition treaty which have been sent to me by public assemblies of organized associations of Russian and Polish refugees in various parts of Europe. They are primarily intended for the people of the United States, but it seems to me to be proper that they should also be submitted to the peo ple's chief executive, and I beg leave, therefore, to bring them to your attention.

The letters are from the Federation of Polish Immigrants in Europe, Russians living in Switzerland, the Polish Society of London, and the school board of Leeds, England. The letters protest "in the name of humanity and in the name of menaced justice" against the extradition treaty.

A cable message received by Secretary Gresbam to-day from the United States consul-general at Havana, states that the Infanta sailed for New York this afternoon. The President is said to be thoroughly in favor of doing all that can be done to pay proper honor to the Infanta during her visit, but he wants to do it in the American way. The royal lady is due in New York on May 19, and the time intervening will give plenty of opportunity for the arrangements of the details of her reception.

Suspension of Three More Banking In-Estitutions with Enormous Liabilities.

Semi-Panic on the London Stock Exchange Indiana Banks Kesuming Business-Financial Troubles at Minneapolis.

FAILED FOR MILLIONS.

Three More Big Banks in Australasia Forced to Suspend Payments. LONDON, May 15 .- A dispatch from Brisbane says: "The Bank of North Queensland, limited, has suspended. The Queensland National Bank has also suspended. The deposits in the Queensland National Bank last December amounted to £8,500,-000, of which amount one-half was from Great Britain. The subscribed capital of the Queensland National Bank is £16,000,-(00, of which one-half is paid up. The bank has claimed a reserve fund of £485,-

Private cable dispatches have been received to the effect that the Commercial | rescue of Sergeant Lowe and the woman Banking Company, of Sydney, N. S. W., has also suspended. For this land other reasons the uneasiness on the London Stock Exchange is increasing. The Commercial Banking Company, of Sydney, is one of the oldest banking establishments in the antipodes, having been established in 1834, and incorporated in 1848. The capital is £600,000, and the reserve was stated to be £830,000. T. A. Dibbs is the general manager in Sydney, and the board in London consists of Sir James Arndell Youl, F. H. Dangar, A. O. Robins, B. Buchanan, Hon. Edward Knox and Nathaniel Cork, the last named being the London manager. The Commercial Banking Company has many branches in Queensland and New South Wales.

The suspension of the National Bank of Queensland has caused no excitement in inapolal circles. The officials of the National cable from Brisbane that the stoppage is due to the persistent with-drawal of deposits. The shares of the National Bank of Queensland have been at a discount for weeks in the Stock Exchange, and the stoppage of the bank causes no surprise. The officials of the National express confidence that it will be reconstructed, as it still retains valuable

The official hour of closing, to-day, left the Stock Exchange feverish and excited over the developments of the day. Three defaulters had been posted, while it was known that the fourth and most important failure had only been deferred until tomorrow. The dealings in the street proceeded from bad to worse, and ended in a feeling that might fairly be called panicky. Besides the Australian collapses, reported gold shipments to New York and the advices of lower prices in Wall street added to the depression. When the street business closed the colonial government stocks had gone down an average percentage of 24 on the day's transactions. In regard to to-morrow, it is feared that the troubles, both in financial and commercial circles, will be increased by the failures of Glasgow and Edinburg houses heavily involved through the suspensions of Australian banking houses.

A dispatch from Brisbane to-night says: 'The Permanent Building and Loan Association, of this city, suspended payment to-day. The New South Wales government has proclaimed bank notes legal tender."

THE

DAILY.

SUNDAY

AND

WEEKLY

The Journal's price for daily is only 15 cents a week, and it has a very wide circulation, reaching a large number of people hitherto unable to afford the luxury of a first-class daily paper. Reports from agents and subscriber indicate a continued increase, and that what used to be regarded as a luxury has become a necessity. The new readers not only remain, but they are constantly increasing.

It is the purpose of the Journal &c make itself even more indispensable to its patrons, new and old, and to still further widen its field. To this end it will not only endeavor to maintain the characteristics which have established its reputation as by far the best newspaper in Indiana, but will add such new features and improvements from time to time as are in accord with journalistic progress and that may tend to the advantage of its readers. It will, for example, give increased attention to State and local interests. What Indianians want is a paper in which Indiana affairs are given especial prominence and importance. This want the Journal has always supplied as no other paper published outside or inside the State is able to do; but the rapidly developing industries and business and social enterprises of the community call for additional consideration and space. With this in view its corps of correspondents has been increased until it has a representative in nearly every town in the State. Special traveling correspondents will visit the news centers of the State at frequent intervals, thus insuring the "write up" of every important event or matter of general interest.

Being published in the geographical center of Indiana the Journal is afforded unusual facilities for securing news promptly, and, what is of greater consequence, is able to reach its subscribers without delay. The ruuning of morning trains from Indianapolis is very favorable to the early distribution of papers sent by mail or express, and in most towns within a radius of a hundred miles Journals are delivered as early as in the city where they are printed. In the more remote counties there is but little loss of time in transportation.

The Journal is the paper for Indianians and particularly for Indiana Republicans. The change of administration involves the settlement of political problems likely to be of the most direct personal concern to every farmer and business man in the State All such matters will be set forth in detail, the Journal's Washington correspondent being instructed to give especial attention to everything having a possible bearing on Indiana interests.

But though the Journal is Republican in politics it is non-partisan in the publication of news. Its constant endeavor is to secure facts unbiased by prejudice and to make its columns trustworthy records of each day's happenings. A large editorial force supplements the work of the press associations and the correspondents, and furnishes careful supervision for each department.

The Sunday Journal has a well-established literary character, superior to that of any Western paper. It is not defaced by "plate matter" nor filled with a heterogeneous mass of syndicate literature, but its contributions and miscellany are chosen with a view to their special fitness and adaptability to the tastes of the readers. The reading matter in any given number of the Sunday Journal is equal in quantity and is not inferior in quality to that found in the leading magazines. As an educational adjunct and a source of entertainment the Sunday Journal is indispensable in every well-regulated family.

The Weekly Journal, at $1 per year, contains more reading matter than can be obtained for the money in any other shape. It is carefully edited and offers the news of the week in condensed shape and a variety of miscellany, agricultural and household literature that render it one of the best investments that any family can make. Try it and see. It has a large circulation in this and other States and agents find it an easy matter to secure large lists of subscribers. Special inducements offered to agents.
